REFERENCE: DTR memorandum, same subject, 20 January 1960

1. The OTR Briefing Officer gives briefings (as opposed to courses) on the intelligence community and on the mission, functions, and organization of CIA. No request for such briefings has ever been turned down. Briefings vary considerably in content, however, the need-to-know principle being the guide as to how much should be said. When a first-time request is received from a service school (as in the case of the US Army Armor School in 1958), clearance is sought from the DTR.

2. The following briefings were given by the OTR Briefing Officer in CY 1959:
